The Facts

Unlike natural marble, engineered stone doesn't require sealing or regular maintenance, making for a practical and durable surface. Our stone is not indestructible, but it is tough – it is inherently resistant to scratching, heat, chips and stains, giving you peace of mind that your Stone Ambassador surface will look the same as the day it was installed for many years to come.

Discover What's Possible

Stone Ambassador are forever striving to produce the most realistic, practical and naturally inspired marble look designs available. A considerable investment in the latest production technology and manufacturing techniques has constantly showcased Stone Ambassador as a leader at the forefront of Australian stone surfaces design.
